A REWARD FOR A FIRE-BUG

Col. L. T. W. Waller Takes Command of the Marine Barracks at Norfolk.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., April 12.—It is admitted that the receivership action in the United that the receivership action in the United States Court against the Tunts Lumber Company is really a suit for the possession of the property. The former owners of the property represented by attorneys for the estate of Mrs. Georgiana Wilson, owner of $00,000 of the by attorneys for the eatter than the capital stock of the company, and a creditor to the extent of $10,000, cash advances, are seeking to regain possession of the valuable plant, and the sion of the valuable plant, and the chances are now that they will succeed. The British steamship Rosewood has been floated from her dangerous cradle in the sand off Cape Henry. The vessel has arrived in Hampton Roads, where she will be surveyed and perhaps repaired. Her lumber was jettlsoned.

she will be surveyed and permiss topaired. Her lumber was jettisoned.

REWARD FOR FIREBUG.

The board of supervisors of Norfolk county to-day offered a reward of $300 for the firebug who set fire twice to Glebe school house, on the outsirts of Portsmouth, destroying each structure.
The firebug is believed to be an insancperson, and the members of the Misonio lodge, near the school house, are having their property watched for fear
he may attempt to burn it.
Tailbot L. Drury, who killed Park G.
Melsenheimer Friday, was to-day held to answer the charge of murder before the Corporation Court. The little fourteen-year-old girl for whose sake her father is said to have killed Melsenhenner, was in court. There was much conflicting testimony as to her acts. She testified that she had told her mother and father that Melsenheimer had tried to assault her. The court did not go far into the testimony, but held that the acknowledgment of Drury that he had taken the life of Melsenheimer was sufficient warrant for holding him on the charge of murder.

The training squadron is expected here shortly, and also a detachment of the coast squadron. The latter, consisting of the famous old Hartford, the monitors arkansas, Nevada and Florida, will arrive here the latter part of the present month. It is anticipated that these vessels will rendezvous in Hampton Roads for several weeks, and that they will be for several weeks, and that they will be joined here by the North Atlantic squad-

The vessels of the fleet, which has been engaged in target practice and drills in the Caribbean during the winter past, will come up to Hampton Roads about that time, and there is the possibility that the President may accompany Admiral Dewey on his inspection tour on that occasion. Whether the inspection will take place in the Roads or on the drilling grounds outside the Capes has not been stated, but there is little likelihood that there will be a formal review by the President in any event.

increasing. The institution of a track team this year is a new feature in Randolph-Macon athletics and much interest was shown in this feature. The different events proved to be good.

ACTED IN BAD FAITH. ACTED IN BAD FAITH.

The Washington Literary Society of Randolph-Macon College held its time-hunored public debate in the chapel Friday night. The question "That the United States acted in bad faith towards Columbia in recognizing and siding the Panama Revolutionists," was debated with much interests by Students R. B. Rust and C. E. Green, affirmative, and W. P. Johnston

E. Green, amrmative, and w. P. Somston and J. N. Mast, negative.

The speeches were all above the average, and that of Mr. J. N. Mast particularly so. Each debater showed that he had posted himself well on the subject, and it was difficult to render a decision. By mistake, there being a tie mong the tudges the question was put among the judges, the question was put to a vote of the augience, and it was decided that the United States had acted

BOYS CAUGHT BY A CAVE-IN

Came Near Losing Their Lives in a Hole of Their Own

PETERSBURG, VA., April 12.-Two Pe tersburg lads narrowly escaped death dug with their own hands, near the city. In company with other boys, Joe Mc-Caleb and John Chandler spent considerable time Saturday digging a cave in the side of a hill, and after the hole had assumed considerable dimensions, the earth caved in and caught Chandler and McCaleb. After desperate work on the part of their companions, the imprisoned lads were extricated, almost suffocated and bearing injuries caused by three feet of earth which covered them. Chandler's arm was broken and both boys were so weak that they had to be carried home.

Rapid Progress Being Made in the McGlammery Case.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WYTHEVILLE, VA., April 12.—The Circuit Court is making unprecedented Circuit Court is making unprecedented progress with a trial so important as the McGlammery murder case. All the evidence on both sides is in, Commonweith's Attorney Heuser has made his opening speech for the prosecution, and Attorney Robert Sayers, Jr., has made the opening speech for the defense. Many witnesses have been examined, but they are promptly put through, and Judge Jackson rules instantly upon every objection.

Mrs. Burchett, the wife of the murdered Mrs. Burchett, the wile of the mirdered man, and the accomplice of McGlam mery, was on the stand to-day, being the main witness for the prosecution.

The defense strove by many witnesses to impeach her evidence. The result is impossible to forecast. To-morrow Attorney E. Lee Trinkle will close for the defense, and the Commonwealth's Attorney will close the argument.

A verdict may be reached by noon. There was no dispute over instructions.

the United States. Our vast wheat and corn growing states were then in their infancy. Cotton is again coming to the front, and its importance to American industry is vastly greater than some years back, and just as the people and the resources of the South have become elements of our national strength, so has cotton became a great factor in our national prosperity. One large speculator made the price of cotton higher in 1903, and fortunately the growers of cotton reaped some of the benefit of the higher prices before their crop was out of their hands. The value of the crop to the southern planters, was about six hundred millions of dollars, which was about one-third more than the South has received for its cotton in former years. Never before in the history of the cotton trade have the southern planters realized such high prices for their cotton. The ceived for its cotton in former years.

Never before in the history of the cotton trade have the southern planters realized such high prices for their cotton. The southern people—strong, brave and chivalrous—bear a very important part in our national strength.
